Unit 1 spending to top $39.5 million

Tentative budget includes 9% jump in revenue

BY ANN GILL

The Unit 1 School District entered into a new fiscal year on July 1 and five days later it placed on file a budget that, in its tentative form, puts expenditures at $39.5 million, an increase of 4.52% from the prior year.

Revenues for fiscal year 2024 are projected at $38.7 million, an increase of 9.1%. The figures reflected in the financial plan are guaranteed to change prior to the budget adoption in

As the district's chief school business official Jason Smith told the Board of Education, "This year is probably a little bit different than previous years because there are several things going on that will impact what the final budget looks like compared to this," Smith said.

Two key items that will factor into the final figures are collective bargaining and capital

'Negotiations with the teacher have an impact on how the final numbers adjust out,"

Additionally, the district has engaged in a facility improvement project and there is a cost

The Board is currently considering its funding options and according to Smith, "based on the funding discussions this Board has, and decisions they make about some of the capital projects, it might involve some bonding particularly where certain expenses and revenues come from based on the timing of things."

There are a number of projects on the improvement list including a renovation of the high school stadium and that could come within the next fiscal year.

And, as always there are finals adjustments that come between tentative and final budget.

State funds are projected at $2.4 million and federal dollars received should be around

The majority of all funds received go to support the education fund and in the coming fiscal year spending from that fund is projected

Since the education fund is where salaries and benefits are paid, that is one line item that will certainly change prior to September. There is already a 7.39% increase reflected in the education fund from what was budgeted the prior

Local projects include bridge replacements, I-55 interchanges

STAFF REPORT

Department Transportation unveiled a plan on Friday for spending nearly $41 billion in federal, state and local funds over the next six years to repair and upgrade roads, bridges, airports, rail lines and other infrastructure throughout the state.

The state has earmarked $143.7 million for interchange reconstruction and bridge replacement along Interstate 55 at Route 129 and Lorenzo roads and the village of Coal City is set to received ADA estimated

The latest version of the plan, which IDOT updates annually, is the largest multiyear plan in state history. It's driven by the state's 2019 Rebuild Illinois capital infrastructure program. The initial six-year Rebuild Illinois plan included $33.2 billion for transportation, funded largely by annualized increases to the state's motor fuel tax and increases to driving-related licensing fees that took effect

"Over the next six years, we're investing over $40 billion to improve all modes of transportation across our great state," Gov. JB Pritzker said at a conference Springfield. "And that means better roads and bridges, modernized transit and aviation, and expanded and faster passenger rail service.

More than half of the plan, $27 billion, will go toward road and bridge projects, including $4.6 billion in the current fiscal year. That will fund repair and reconstruction of 2,866 miles of roadway and 9.8 million square feet of bridge deck on the state highway system, along with another 738 miles of roadway and 1.1 million square feet of bridge deck in systems maintained by local governments.

The project list includes a variety of improvements across Grundy and Will counties including replacement of

The bridge replacement is part of an estimated $1 billion improvement that begins at Ridge Road in Minooka and extends east along the interstate to US Route 30 in New The improvements set for the year 2025-2029 include Interstate 55 at Route 129 and Lorenzo Road for interchange reconstruction and bridge replacement, reconstruction and utility adjustments, construction of auxiliary lanes widening and resurfacing of 2.5 miles of highway. The $160.5 million project also includes engineering design, location and environmental studies, land acquisition and construction engineering.

The ADA [Americans with Disabilities Act] improvements slated for Coal City will extend along Route 113 from DeWitt Place east to Lincoln Street.

"This is a major corridor for Coal City and we invite any investment in the community," Village Administrator Matt Fritz said.

The area slated for improvement is also a main access for children who walk and bike to school, and the administrator noted it will enhance safe routes to school.

"So to have ADA sidewalks will be greatly appreciated," Fritz said.

Additional projects for Grundy County include bridge improvements on Interstate 55 southwest of Gardner Road, a $2 million bridge replacement on Route 117 east of Reddick. reconstruction Route 6 from Lakewood Drive to Route 47 in the city of Morris and bridge replacement on Tabler Road over the I& M canal.

The multiyear plan also earmarks $13.96 billion for other modes of transportation, including $9.85 billion for transit systems, $2.67 billion for freight and passenger rail, $1.25 billion for aviation projects, and $190 million for ports

Coffee with a cop

Coal City Police Chief Chris Harseim will be handing out cups of coffee at McDonald's next week and Grundy County Sheriff Ken Briley will be there to lend him a hand.

The Coal City Police Department and Grundy County Sheriff's Office have partnered with Coal City McDonald's for the Coffee with a Cop event. It is a chance for the two law enforcement agencies to connect with the community over a cup of joe, and that cup will be provided at no cost. Everyone who attends the Thursday, July 20 event will be treated to a free small hot or iced coffee between 9 and 11 a.m. They will also get a chance to chat with the law enforcement leaders and maybe an officer or two.

Harseim will also be handing out some specialized police department merchandise to those who stop by.

"This is going to be a cool event," Harseim said.

the site work has been completed, and recently released images from the company provide a view of what is forthcoming.

They want it under roof by winter, so they are doing every thing they can to make that happen," Kernc said.

The construction timeline has the project at 10 months with a completion date in the first quarter of 2024. From all indications, construction is moving along as expected.

Kernc said she is in regular communication with the company's president, "he is just as excited as I am. We just can't wait [for competition] they are going to be great partners.

For Kernc the goal has always been to provide for the residents and that means securing the services they need and want.

"If they don't want to leave town to go to Joliet, Morris or Kankakee and just want to get their food and pharmacy here in Diamond they are going to be able to do that. If they want to go to the doctor's office here in Diamond, they can do that," Kernc

In checking off two of the four items on her list, Kernc said she's added a few more.

"I am not one to settle, so if we can embellish on that goal and do more for residents then we continue," Kernc said. The next item that may be added to the list is a hotel.

"We have the space and incentives in place to start bringing these things in," she said.

Summer improvements for Unit 1 schools

BY ANN GILL

The most visible improvement being undertaken this summer is the construction of a new access road at Coal City Middle School. But that's not the only project on the school district's to-do list.

Big ticket items like the roadway and new and reconfigured parking lots at the middle school and renovations to the high school weight room are included in the district's facility improvement plan.

Based on teacher and public input during the district's strategic planning process last summer, the Board of Education directed its architectural firm to complete a facility improvement plan.

The multi-page document, drafted with input from district stakeholders, was presented to the Board in December and by March projects were underway.

Improvements to the high school weight room are expected to be completed in early August, just in time for the start of a new school year.

The work included opening up the weight and fitness rooms into one space, new flooring will be installed, electrical upgrades completed and new workout equipment.

Construction of the road and parking lots commenced late last month and when finished will serve to ease traffic congestion and increase parking for those attending school

A FLOORING PROJECT has been completed at Coal City Middle School. The tile floor was removed and replaced.

"It's exciting to see the progress on the road and progress is being made every day," Superintendent Chris Spencer said.

D Construction awarded the $920,000 contract. The local contractor will also complete $368,238 in parking lot paving projects.

Spencer commended the company for its work to get the projects completed in a timely manner.

'They are here in the morning before most of us and they are here when we leave at night," the superintendent

Along with the projects taking place outside of the building, work has been going on inside.

A middle school flooring project aimed at fixing moisture issues in some portions of the building commenced at the close of the academic year and has been completed at a cost of $284,405.

The work consisted of changing out the tiles for a concrete flooring surface.

"We are very happy with the way it turned out. It looks sharp and is a lot better thn the tile that was there" Spencer

Items outlined in the facility improvement plan for each the district's five school buildings remain under review by the Board of Education and that low level discussions on financing options that are expected to be presented to the board members in the coming months.

Projects outlined for consideration including building additions, new roofs, reconfiguration of classroom spaces and renovation of the high school stadium that could include an expansion of the running track and installation of a turf playing surface.

After resigning his position in 2022, Wills will reclaim head coaching duties-at least for up to three more seasons.

Jerry McDowell, a hall of famer who coached the district's middle and high school teams for 22 years, came back to oversee the team when the position opened.

"I want to take a minute and thank Jerry McDowell for stepping up when we needed someone," Unit 1 Superintendent Spencer said.

The contract between the Coal City Unit Education Association [CCUEA] and Board of Education allows the district to employ a nonassociation member to an extra-curricular post for a period of one year or less if no qualified association member applies.

The intent was for McDowell to continue coaching the Coalers, but per contract language the position was opened and interest was expressed within the association's membership.

"We are happy with the [McDowell] did. However, contract language leads to what we have to do sometimes and this is one of those times," Spencer said.

Spencer praised McDowell for the time and commitment he has given to the program.

Opinion vs. fact
CUSTER PARK—This is in response to the sound off "Support your department". I would like to start this out by saying I have been to meetings in the past and actually several times have been one of the very few that actually attend. Secondly I would like to call you out in several things you said that are not factual and are merely your personal opinion. Facts #1: The residents are paying for a ambulance service and if you attend the meetings you would know that multiple times they have moved money from the ambulance fund to the general fund to cover their expenses. Fact #2: Braidwood has, from my understanding, five people on duty 24/7/365 and Custer has a unknown amount of people on duty 24/7/365, but yet our tax rate is higher than the Braidwood residents. Fact #3: You stated in your article "I fully support the department and will move out before I ever agree to have Braidwood come to my town and have my taxes raised." The current Braidwood tax rate for the Fire District is at a lower rate than ours. So if there was a merger our taxes would actually decrease. Finally I will add you stated "Instead of bashing the Custer Park Fire District as an anonymous person" but yet you posted your article anonymously? Seem hypocritical, just a little bit. Please do some actual research before sharing an uneducated opinion.

Investigate his own

WILMINGTON- Trump vowed at his South Carolina rally this past weekend that he would appoint a new special counsel to probe the Biden family if elected president. I wonder if he will also appoint a new special counsel to probe how daughter Ivanka made millions in China and son-in-law Jared made billions from the Saudis while Trump was president the first time around?

Beautiful flowers

COAL CITY—The flowers on Broadway look gorgeous. Thanks for adding color to our small town. Keep up the good work.

More political lies

MORRIS-President Biden has ordered another $500 million gifted to the war in Ukraine. Does anyone know how the billions already gifted from the U.S.A. are being spent by whom and what for? We as a nation are trillions in debt. Our children and grandchildren's future looks rather gloomy. Älso President Biden claims all is well across the country. Recent news is 150 Walgreens stores are closing across the U.S.A. More and more political lies. God bless our Supreme Court with the last couple of rulings at least some have good common sense on school issues especially doing away with student loans for free. President Biden is angry about the rulings, so be it.

Insane idea

MORRIS-NASCAR races in downtown Chicago, another insane idea with an outrageous cost, plus traffic revisions would be maddening. As insane as the $1 billion cost for railroad's high speed rail between Chicago and St. Louis, saving 15 minutes less time. Our Illinois tax dollars at work. Thousands more illegals being shipped to our sanctuary state and Chicago sanctuary city from 130 different countries. Supplying food and health care all free of charge to illegals the cost will end up in the billions. Are we dealing with stupid or who cares? Many don't speak English. Thanks, Joe.

Biggest eyesore in town

WILMINGTON—To the Wilmington mayor, city council and city lawyer. You guys are so hell-bent on campers in Wilmington, but yet you fail to see what's going on in town. I feel so sorry for all the travelers coming to Wilmington to the Launching Pad to see the Gemini Giant, only to find a junk car sitting in front of it. Don't we have an ordinance in town for eyesores? Also just west on the south side the junk house. It's been there forever. Is it livable? How long do we have to look at it? Is there an ordinance to take care of that or somebody sitting on their hands. My wife and I raise three children here and now I pay over $6,000 in taxes. What does Wilmington have to offer families in this town? We have one grocery store (The other one is up for grabs). Your going to lose three car dealerships soon. I remember years ago when I first moved here we had a real mayor and real council members and a real city lawyer. What happened? Maybe you need to start pushing to clean this town up, all vour aldermen are sitting on their hands. If you can't get somebody in there to do their job, find somebody who will. We need young people who want to make a name for themselves. Take time and drive through Coal City, Diamond, Braidwood see if you find junk cars, junk houses and dealerships gone. There is no reason why Wilmington should look this way. I think the Free Press should do an article on why the junk car is in front of the Gemini giant and why that house has been abandoned for so long for the taxpayers of Wilmington.

Be aware

to a school board near you. Please be aware of this group claiming to be just a bunch of moms for liberty and the well being of children. They are actually a front for the Oath Keepers and Proud Boys who want to take over your school boards. I saw they were trying to infiltrate Will County and failed (so far), but it will only be a matter of time before they come here if they haven't already tried. They want books banned, history revised and not taught. They are not for liberty and freedom. They're for violence, White Christian Nationalism, and the teachings of Hitler. The Republican party has shamelessly embraced this group and other rightwing, fascist militias. We have to be vigilant and protect our Democracy and freedom. Be smart, be aware and vote.

A happy wish

WILMINGTON— I'd like to wish a happy 4th to the people who didn't take the 5th about

Always smiling

COAL CITY—Hi, I just wanted to thank Nancy at The Dollar Store in Coal City, she is so helpful and always smiling. Thank you very much, Cathy B. Braceville.

Cocaine found

DIAMOND-On the news July 5th, it was stated while the president and his son were at Camp David there was cocaine located on the West wing of the White House. The White House has now become a drug dealing sanctuary. So which member of the White House is involved in a top level drug dealing and will the people involved in illegal drugs in the White House be prosecuted like any other American citizen? Or will the Department of Justice overlook more crimes by this administration? Is this administration controlled by criminal element when crime seems to be the complete agenda. While they deprive American citizens of legal rights in the U.S.A. Will a deal be made by the Attorney General that is just as crooked as any crime family. It is doubtful that anyone will be prosecuted for this crime. How long has it been snowing indoors at the White House?

Plight of the poor
WILMINGTON—This is directed to the caller in Diamond who accused Democrats hypocrisy as it pertains to the rule of law. As a Democrat, I can say I'd encourage an investigation and prosecution of any Democrat accused of sexual assault and rape and obstruction of justice in an election interference. If any Democrats encourage insurrection and treason I would hope we would investigate. I don't know if it's a crime to give aid to immigrants but I know those buses and airplanes hired by Abbott and DeSantis were paid for with tax dollars. I do know that ignoring the plight of the poor is a crime against Jesus. So if you call yourself a Christian you might want to reexamine your faith.

The big push

BRAIDWOOD—I can't for the life of me understand what the big, fast, push is for Braidwood to suddenly want control of Custer's Fire House. Then I took a look at the website for the new solar farm that is going in this year in Custer's Township. Don't believe me, take a look for yourself. It states the tax revenue for this project is $300 million. Now it all makes sense. Since Braidwood is soon to be losing its gravy train from Exelon, it would make sense they would be snooping elsewhere for money. It states right on Acciona's website in the key points for the project that it is expected to erate millions in local tax revenue over the life of the project." I suppose there is the answer for the big push to have the IGA signed, sealed and delivered as soon as possible. Wouldn't want an opportunity like this to slip by Braidwood. You know our best neighbor ever.

The sign

CUSTER PARK—I have been watching Facebook blow up over the last couple of weeks regarding the Custer Park Fire Department. What got me is that there seems to be a witch hunt for some guy who put up a sign to "Save" the fire station. When I saw it, I instantly thought there is some patriot willing to stand up for this town when people from my own town of Braidwood are treating it like it's the coming of the anti-Christ. The last time I checked, there is still a First Amendment and what he did falls under that. From all the posts regarding the position of where it sat, it stated it was right on the highway in front of the fire department. I take that road to work every day from Braidwood and even I know that it is a state highway and he has every right to put it on a state highway. The next thing I see is that someone is actually posting photos of the poor guy like he is someone wanted for murder. Let me make this simple for everyone reading this. He had the right to his opinion just like the other sign on 113. It makes y'all look like little kids trying to hide something. He reminds me of my grandfather who fought in WWII who wasn't afraid to stand up for what he believed is true and I am embarrassed to live in a town that bullies a patriot.

CUSTER PARK—It seems to me the group of bullies that ousted the elected mayor in record time have drifted east to yet another victim. I am disappointed to call Braidwood my hometown when I read about their latest power grab for Custer Park's Fire Station. Instead of always trying to control everything, why don't you "assist" Custer in trying to get their ambulance up and running. They have been trying in vain to get the license for months. If you are really the great neighbor you are stated to be, help them. There is no need to overtake them. They have the building, the volunteers and the equipment. I hope the people of Custer are aware and ready to stop this.

Good point

CUSTER PARK—Regarding the Custer Fire Department. If Braidwood's "generous" offer was on the up-and-up, why are you so bothered the taxpayers of Custer Park want to put up a sign? They obviously smell a rat and you guys are guilty as heck.

So loud

COAL CITY-What is up with all the teenagers around here? Some of them are so loud and they yell at each other downtown and don't get me started on their trucks and cars.

Poor got poorer

WILMINGTON-Just a reminder, under the Trump administration and Trump-picked Justices, the wall hasn't been built, Mexico did not pay for the small part that was built, jobs were lost, the national debt increased, women lost abortion rights, the rich got richer and poor got poorer. But somehow, it's the Democrats fault.

It's worth it

BRAIDWOOD—Braidwood Department, we fully support you providing Custer Park with your ambulance services. As residents of Custer Park for over 50 years we absolutely appreciate the Custer Park Fire Department but it's time to make a change for the safety and well being of all residents. Anyone who opposes this needs to think about if they have a family member or they themselves need an ambulance right away and waiting 30 minutes to an hour for help to arrive may end in tragedy. Yes, taxes will got up but isn't the life of your spouse child, parents worth it?

Do look nice

COAL CITY-The cement flower pots along Broadway look beautiful and obviously are very well taken care of. I still agree we didn't need so many of them but they sure do look

After dark

DIAMOND-It's sad there has been so much vandalism recently, especially when it seems to be a young group of kids out after curfew. What's even worse is when the parents of the kids attack the police for doing their jobs instead of keeping better track of their kids out running around at such late hours of the night. I'm just afraid something terrible will end up coming from this with so many people having conceal and carry permits and they catch these kids on their property.

Another smear campaign

WILMINGTON-The Republicans have a history of dirty tricks. Do you remember G Gordon Liddy whose job with Nixon was to commit crime to make Democrats look bad? That being said I think the cocaine found at the White House was another attempt by Republicans to smear the Biden family. Or maybe it was left behind by Don Jr.

He'll burn the GOP

Every prominent Republican and his brother have announced that they are running for president. All of them realize that front runner Trump will never beat Joe Biden. But I hope Trump stays in the race because he will burn down the Republican Party in his campaign.

Drought limits corn height in many areas of Illinois

BY DANIEL GRANT FARMWEEK

If you can still easily look across entire cornfields because the plants are so short, Despite recent rainfall in the northern portion of the state, the height of corn has been greatly limited in many areas of the state by the severe lack of moisture so far this season. The majority of the state (92.7%) was in drought, according to the latest U.S. Drought

Monitor released June 29, while the remainder, mostly in southern Illinois, was rated abnor-This includes a pocket of extreme drought in western Adams, Hancock and Pike counties along the Mississippi River and the very western edge of Schuyler County. Meanwhile, most of the northern two-thirds of the state was in severe drought as of June 27. The latest Drought Monitor was released just hours before a widespread derecho pummeled a large portion of the state June 29 and provided some much-

"We've been drier since planting than 1988 or 2012," Lance Tarochione, DeKalb/Asgrow technical agronomist, told FarmWeek hours before the storm. "Things don't look good.

If you have early-planted corn on good soil, it's held up the best," he noted. "But, if you have later-planted corn, corn on lighter soils or compacted soils, that stuff looks pretty tough.

LACK OF MOISTURE in Illinois has limited the height of corn in some areas of the state.

There's lots of scary-short corn and lots of nutrient deficiency symptoms.

But, while much of this year's corn crop might not grow to the height of a professional basketball player, many farmers can still score some respectable yields if the recent return of regular showers continues. And the June 29 storm, despite wind and hail damage, was a good start in many areas.

"There's a lot of concern about height. There's going to be a lot of corn 6 feet tall fully tasseled," Tarochione said. "And it's not going to grow much after it tassels.

"But there's really no correlation between height and yield, although there is some correlation with leaf area and yield (which can affect sunlight capture and photosynthesis)," the agronomist noted.

Just 26% of the corn crop and 25% of soy beans were rated good to excellent statewide as of June 26, down dramatically from 70% and 66%, respectively, as of the same date last year.

The key, of course, is the weather pattern for the upcoming pollination season.

The height of corn is determined in June but the corn yield is determined in July,' Tarochione said. "This crop still has far more potential than crop insurance levels, but we need a lot of rain soon. If there's not much rain soon, then it won't pollinate well and there could be a lot of kernel abortion."

Soybean growth also remains limited, although that crop has more time to recover this season as yield potential isn't usually set until August, the agronomist noted.

Rainfall activity increased in the state during the last week of June.

"We got three-tenths (Wednesday, June 28) afternoon, which was our biggest rain in two months (followed by much heavier downpours Thursday, June 29)," Tarochione said. "The forecast is at least more optimistic.'

Moisture deficits reached 8 to 10 inches in much of the state through late June, according to Trent Ford, state climatologist with the Illinois State Water Survey. Statewide, topsoil ranked 89% short to very short as of June 26.

Forest Preserve warns trail users to slow down, use caution this summer

As you venture onto Forest Preserve County trails this summer, make it a point to slow down and look around so your outing doesn't end with an injury or worse.

Police Sgt. Dan Olszewski, who has been on the Forest Preserve police force for more than 16 years, said police will be out in force this summer patrolling in cars, on foot and on bikes to get the word out about obeying trail safety Forest Preserve police officers recently completed 32 hours of bike patrol training to increase the effectiveness of this patrol method. One of the goals is to get bicyclists who zoom through preserves in a reckless manner to slow down, Olszewski said.

"We try to explain to them with vehicles. District of Will the dangers of going too fast," ails this summer, he said. "We've been called to a lot of bike accidents through the years and have seen a lot of injuries, from minor scrapes and bruises to broken bones, dislocated shoulders and knees and a few fatalities."

Going too fast and not loudly announcing an intention to pass pedestrians is a recipe for disaster, he added.

They're going to get in an accident," he said of those who do not heed the rules. "Our trails are not designed for fast speeds. They're designed to help you enjoy nature, get some exercise but not endanger anyone."

Bicyclists also must stop for stop signs, Olszewski added. Failing to do so could cause significant accidents Pedestrians also need to do their part, Olszewski added. Walkers and joggers can't block both sides of the trail and dog walkers can't have their pets' leashes stretched across the path, which could trip up a bicyclist. Other trail safety measures include: do not block the trail; proceed at a slower pace when paths are in heavy use; slower traffic should stay to the right; faster traffic should pass on the left by announcing, "On your left," loudly; bicyclists should wear helmets; and dog leashes can be no longer than For more information on

Cans for Kuzma during CFD parade

Need never ends at Kuzma Care Cottage

That's why the local food pantry is entering its empty van in the Catfish Days parade on Sunday, July 23 at 1 p.m. hoping that by the end of the parade route it is overloaded with non-perishable food

Cans For Kuzma is the summer campaign to restock the shelves at the food pantry. Summer isn't typically the time when people think of donating food items so the shelves are low at Kuzma and the parade it the easiest way to replenish them.

The non-profit is asking spectators along the parade route to bring a sack or two of packaged food items. As the Kuzma van passes north on Water Street, walk your bag to the van and hand it to a volunteer. Be generous.

Grab a Mason on the go this summer

BY ELAINE OHLUND FOOD FOR THE SOUL

Oh the temptations of summer. I have a better time with eating healthy while the kids are in school until summer kicks in and I cave to too many summer tastes.

Especially after Fourth of July when I'm surrounded by hotdogs, hamburgers, potato chips, pasta salads, homemade ice cream and s'mores. I love the tastes of summer so much it seems impossible to stay on a healthy path. But what I have learned is to balance things with a trick or two to keep me on track.

Meal prepping for the week can help you stay on track. I know what you're thinking, you don't have the time to prepare meals for an entire week. I use to think the same thing until I realized it lead to me eating healthier and without guilt.

With cook outs, beach trips and camping filling up summer's schedule, I knew I would have to find a meal prep plan that was coolerfriendly and ready to eat at anytime with no maintenance. Salad mason jars have become my game changer.

I encourage you to try this Mediterranean chickpea mason jar salad. This recipe and technique is great for

One, you are prepping four meals for the week and this recipe is cost effective. Two, they stay fresh because they are tightly sealed in mason jars. Three, the on-thego factor, it is easy just to pull one out of the fridge and pack it in a cooler heading to the beach or camping. Four, it is a meal packed with alkaline vegetables and protein. But more importantly, it is easy to summer days.

• 1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil

make and so delicious on hot

- 3 Tbs of red wine vinegar
- 1 teaspoon of spicy brown mustard

Red Wine Vinaigrette

2 cloves of garlic,

minced

• 2 Tbs of water

• 1/2 tsp of dried oregano

1/2 tsp of fine sea saltFreshly ground pepper Salad Assembly

• 1 small red onion, diced • 1 cucumber, chopped

 1.5 cups of cooked garbanzo beans (1 15-oz. can, drained)

• 1 pint cherry tomatoes,  $choppe \hat{\boldsymbol{d}}$

• 1/2 cup crumbled feta (optional)

· Any type of salad you prefer, I use spinach or romaine

• Four wide-mouth quartsized mason jars

First, prepare the red wine vinaigrette by adding the oil, vinegar, garlic, mustard, salt, and several grinds of black pepper to a small jar with a lid. (I use a small mason jar.) Shake it vigorously to combine.

Next, arrange the mason jars on your counter for easy salad assembly. Pour 3 tablespoons of the dressing into the bottom of each one. On top of the dressing, add the diced onion, cucumber, beans, cherry tomatoes, feta, and then the lettuce, in that order to avoid soggy vegetables. Tip: I like to roast garbanzo beans because it kind of resembles a crouton and is a healthier alternative. Spread them on a baking sheet and drizzle olive oil on them. Then I sprinkle paprika, cayenne, cinnamon and a little salt to coat them. You can do any seasonings you prefer and then roast them in the oven at 425 degrees for 25 minutes.

Tip: Because I have been trying to add more protein to my daily diet, I added Quinoa fridge until ready to serve for up to 5 days.

To serve the mason jar salad, unscrew the lid and pour the contents into a large bowl. Since the dressing is on the bottom, it will pour over the salad last, dressing all of the vegetables. Stir well to coat, then enjoy right away.

My youngest daughter loves helping me assemble the jars and I also have found that when my kids help me make something, they are usually more willing to try it. Considering our taste buds adapt and change over time, with enough tries I can train my kids to enjoy healthy

So far this has been a convenient, quick way for me to staying on track. And I can't wait to pick a fresh cucumber and tomatoes from the garden to substitute with other ingredients. Anything to help me resist another scoop of ice

Keeping your cool while being green summer bearing down on us, are there any environmentally friendly air conditioners

--Fred Johansen, Grand Rapids, MI

Air conditioners are essential for keeping us cool and comfortable during hot summer months, but their environmental impact cannot be ignored.

out there?

Traditional air conditioning units consume significant amounts of energy and rely heavily on refrigerants that contribute to global warming. However, the good news is that there are several environmentally friendly air conditioning options available today.

One notable advancement is the development of energy-efficient air conditioners. These units are designed to use less electricity, reducing their carbon footprint and lowering energy bills. Energy Star certified air conditioners are a reliable option to consid-

They meet strict energy efficiency standards set by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and can help reduce energy consumption by up to 15 percent. By choosing an Energy Star certified model, consumers can make a positive impact on both the environment and their wallets.

Another eco-friendly air conditioning solution gaining popularity is the use of evaporative coolers, also known as About Our Environment swamp coolers.

Unlike conventional air conditioners, which use refrigerants and compressors to cool the air, evaporative coolers work by passing air over water-soaked pads, causing evaporation and cooling the air.

These units consume significantly less energy than traditional air conditioners and are a suitable option for dry climates. However, they may not be as effective in areas with high humidity.

recent researchers and engineers have been exploring more sustainable alternatives to refrigerants used in air conditioners. One such alternative is hydrofluoroolefin (HFO) refrigerants, which have a much lower global warming potential compared to hydrofluorocarbon (HFC) refrigerants commonly used today.

HFOs are less harmful to the ozone layer and have a significantly lower impact on global warming. Some manufacturers have already started producing air conditioners that use HFO refrigerants, offering a greener cooling ment's EnergySTAR standards for energy efficiency but are also designed so you can open the window and let in fresh air when you don't need AC.

Additionally, there is a growing trend towards the use of geothermal heat pumps for cooling purposes. These systems utilize the constant temperature of the earth to provide cooling, rather than relying on electricity to generate cool air.

Geothermal heat pumps are highly efficient and can save up to 30-60 percent on energy costs compared to traditional air conditioners. They also have a longer lifespan and require less maintenance.

While the initial installation costs may be higher, the long-term environmental and financial benefits make them a viable option for those looking to minimize their ecological impact.

Finally, it is essential to consider sustainable design and proper maintenance practices when using air conditioners. Optimizing insulation, reducing air leaks, and shading windows can help reduce the load on air conditioning systems.

Regular maintenance, such as cleaning filters and ensuring proper airflow, ensures that the unit operates at maximum efficiency.

While there is no onesize-fits-all environmentally friendly air conditioner, consumers now have several options to choose from.

Energy-efficient models, evaporative coolers, HFO refrigerants, and geothermal heat pumps are all promising alternatives that can help reduce the ecological footprint of cooling our homes and buildings. By making informed choices and adopting sustainable practices, we can stay cool without compromising the health of our planet.

In the face of climate change and growing energy demands, it is encouraging to see advancements in air conditioning technology that prioritize energy efficiency and demand these eco-friendly solutions, driving the transition towards a greener future.

Remember, staying cool doesn't have to mean heating up the planet!
